Dear Sir

Queenslanders have a choice at the next election, Anna Bligh and her old failed Government or Campbell Newman and his new LNP Government. The only other choice is some sort of repetition of the debacle in Canberra where grand standing independent Members have caused the Labor Government to be unworkable

Rob Messenger's letter last week indicates to me that he has learnt nothing from the Independents' grand standing in Canberra. He seeks to use the unfortunate situation facing sleeper cutters who were unsuccessful in a commercial tendering process for his own political advantage.

For over six months the apparent solution has been for the smaller operators to subcontract to the successful tenderer. The successful tenderer said publicly last week that he has not been able to get enough sub-contractors even after offering a ten percent premium price.

Sadly Rob Messenger has never learnt that being a Member of Parliament is about working to find solutions to constituents' problems. Instead he continually tries to prolong his constituents' problems to advance his own political interests.

Yours sincerely
